To Whom It May Concern:

Re: Greg Bennick of Impact Performers

Greg Bennick, of Impact Performers, provided presentations to supervisory and classified staff at Columbia Basin College on May 7 & 8, 2009. Mr. Bennick asked that I provide him with a letter regarding his presentations and I am happy to do so. I hope you will find my comments helpful in evaluating whether to have Mr. Bennick provide a presentation or performance for your company or your institution.

Mr. Bennick's presentation for the College's supervisory staff focused on teamwork and communication. This was especially important since departments within the campus community often become very focused within departmental lines and forget to work and communicate as a team to support the College's overall mission. Mr. Bennick took those concepts and integrated them into his presentation. He did so effectively and the result was an enjoyable afternoon of training and entertainment.

The following day, Mr. Bennick provided a lighter presentation to the College's classified staff, who work in support type positions (i.e., clerical, custodial, instructional support, etc.), for their Breakaway Day. The feedback that came from the classified staff was overwhelmingly enthusiastic regarding Mr. Bennick's presentation. He is a tough act to follow and we are unsure how we are going to find a presenter for next year's function that will now meet the staff's raised expectations.

Should you choose to select Mr. Bennick to present to your company or institution, you will be glad you did.

Sincerely,

CAMILLA GLATT
